FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

*UPDATE***

A short time after responding to the previously reported incident, a canvass of adjacent rooms near the crime scene was conducted. Located inside one of the rooms was a male subject later identified as Richard Crane, 62, who was found deceased from a self-inflicted gunshot wound. The investigation has shown that the weapon used in the suicide is the same weapon that was used in the homicide. At this point, a motive is not known, and the Lemont Police have not established any relationship between the two. The investigation is still ongoing, but the Lemont Police are confident there is no threat to the community, and the offender in this incident is deceased.
